

MUZAKKI'S DECISION TO PAY ZAKAT REVIEWED FROM MAQASHID SYARIAH, SOCIAL ENVIRONMENT AND ZAKAT KNOWLEDGE

Yusuf Faisal, Egi Gumala Sari

ABSTRACT

This study aims to test, analyze, and provide empirical evidence regarding the impact of zakat knowledge, maqashid sharia, and the social environment on the decision to pay zakat in Bekasi City. A quantitative research method was employed, utilizing primary data from a sample of 1,329 individuals. Data analysis was performed using Partial Least Squares (PLS) software. The results indicate that zakat knowledge has a positive, but statistically insignificant, effect on the decision to pay zakat. In contrast, both the maqashid sharia and social environment variables show a positive and statistically significant impact on the decision to pay zakat. This study is valuable for understanding the factors that influence zakat payment decisions, as there is limited research that integrates zakat knowledge and maqashid sharia based on Islamic law. Therefore, this research not only enriches academic practices but also contributes to a more ethical understanding of Islamic law.

PEER REVIEW PROCESS

ZISWAF receives articles from researchers from outside the institution as well as internal researchers.

Both research and conceptual articles must be submitted online via OJS. The journal editor team reads the abstracts and reviews the contents of the archive and is forwarded to the reviewer using a double blind review system. The journal editor team has the right to reject the article if the article is considered inappropriate and outside the scope of the journal.

PUBLICATION FREQUENCY

ZISWAF: Zakat and Waqf Journal is published twice a year, in June and December

OPEN ACCESS POLICY

All information content and articles contained in this journal site are open access for educational, research and library purposes [see also Copyright Notice].

PUBLICATION ETHICS

Ethical Guidelines for Journal Publication

The publication of articles in the peer-reviewed ZISWAF JOURNAL is an important building block in the development of a coherent and respected knowledge network. This is a direct reflection of the quality of the work of the authors and the institutions that support them. Peer-reviewed articles support and embody the scientific method. Therefore, it is important to agree on standards of ethical behavior expected of all parties involved in the publishing act: authors, journal editors, peer reviewers, publishers and the public.

Publication Decisions

The editor of the ZISWAF JOURNAL is responsible for deciding which articles to publish in the journal. The validation of the work in question and its importance to researchers and readers should always drive such decisions. Editors may be guided by the policies of the journal's editorial board and limited by the legal requirements that will apply regarding defamation, copyright infringement and plagiarism. The editor may confer with other editors or reviewers in making this decision.

Fair Play

An editor at any time evaluate manuscripts for their intellectual content without regard to race, gender, sexual orientation, religious belief, ethnic origin, citizenship, or political philosophy of the authors.

OUR JOURNALS

Confidentiality

The editor and any editorial staff must not disclose any information about a submitted manuscript to anyone other than the corresponding author, reviewers, potential reviewers, other editorial advisers, and the publisher, as appropriate.

Disclosure and Conflicts of Interest

Unpublished materials disclosed in a submitted manuscript must not be used in an editor's own research without the express written consent of the author.

Duties of Reviewers

Contribution to Editorial Decisions

Peer review assists the editor in making editorial decisions and through the editorial communications with the author may also assist the author in improving the paper.

Promptness

Any selected referee who feels unqualified to review the research reported in a manuscript or knows that its prompt review will be impossible should notify the editor and excuse himself from the review process.

Confidentiality

Any manuscripts received for review must be treated as confidential documents. They must not be shown to or discussed with others except as authorized by the editor.

Standards of Objectivity

Reviews should be conducted objectively. Personal criticism of the author is inappropriate. Referees should express their views clearly with supporting arguments.

Acknowledgement of Sources

Reviewers should identify relevant published work that has not been cited by the authors. Any statement that an observation, derivation, or argument had been previously reported should be accompanied by the relevant citation. A reviewer should also call to the editor's attention any substantial similarity or overlap between the manuscript under consideration and any other published paper of which they have personal knowledge.

Disclosure and Conflict of Interest

Privileged information or ideas obtained through peer review must be kept confidential and not used for personal advantage. Reviewers should not consider manuscripts in which they have conflicts of interest resulting from competitive, collaborative, or other relationships or connections with any of the authors, companies, or institutions connected to the papers.

Duties of Authors

Reporting Standards

Authors of reports of original research should present an accurate account of the work performed as well as an objective discussion of its significance. Underlying data should be represented accurately in the paper. A paper should contain sufficient detail and references to permit others to replicate the work. Fraudulent or knowingly inaccurate statements constitute unethical behaviour and are unacceptable.

Originality and Plagiarism

The authors should ensure that they have written entirely original works, and if the authors have used the work and/or words of others that this has been appropriately cited or quoted.

Multiple, Redundant, or Concurrent Publication

An author should not in general publish manuscripts describing essentially the same research in more than one journal or primary publication. Submitting the same manuscript to more than one journal concurrently constitutes unethical publishing behaviour and is unacceptable.

Acknowledgement of Sources

Proper acknowledgment of the work of others must always be given. Authors should cite publications that have been influential in determining the nature of the reported work.

Authorship of the Paper

Authorship should be limited to those who have made a significant contribution to the conception, design, execution, or interpretation of the reported study. All those who have made significant contributions should be listed as co-authors. Where there are others who have participated in certain substantive aspects of the research project, they should be acknowledged or listed as contributors. The corresponding author should ensure that all appropriate co-authors and no inappropriate co-authors are included on the paper, and that all co-authors have seen and approved the final version of the paper and have agreed to its submission for publication.

Disclosure and Conflicts of Interest

All authors should disclose in their manuscript any financial or other substantive conflict of interest that might be construed to influence the results or interpretation of their manuscript. All sources of financial support for the project should be disclosed.

Fundamental errors in published works

When an author discovers a significant error or inaccuracy in his/her own published work, it is the author's obligation to promptly notify the journal editor or publisher and cooperate with the editor to retract or correct the paper.

ETHICS OF AI USE

1. Authors are permitted to use artificial intelligence (AI) tools only to assist with writing, such as improving grammar, style, or formatting.
2. AI may not be used to create the main content of the article, such as the introduction, research results, discussion, or conclusion.
3. AI cannot be listed as an author or co-author in the article.
4. If AI is used in the writing process, authors must include a statement at the end of the article.
5. Authors remain fully responsible for the originality, accuracy, and scientific integrity of the entire article.
6. The use of AI without transparency or that results in data manipulation will be considered a violation of publication ethics.
