ABSTRACT

This study aims to determine the effect of the Current Ratio, debt-to-equity ratio, Return on Assets, and Inflation on Stock Price. This research uses quantitative data; the sample in this study is stock price banks sub-sector companies that are listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange in the period 2017-2022, with as many as 25 companies. The analysis technique used to test the hypothesis is multiple regression analysis using Eviews9 software. The results of this study indicate that the current ratio variable has a positive and statistically insignificant effect on stock price, the debt-to-equity ratio variable has a positive and statistically insignificant effect on stock price, the return on assets variable has a positive and statistically significant effect on stock price, the inflation variable has a positive and statistically insignificant effect on stock price. This research hopes to provide information regarding how stock prices can benefit decision-making and can be used as reference material for further research

Focus and Scope

The Economics and Business Solutions journal aims to publish high quality research papers in all fields of finance and in closely related fields of economics. The Journal is interested in both theoretical and applied research with an emphasis on topics in corporate finance, financial markets and institutions, and investments. Research in real estate, insurance, monetary theory and policy, and industrial organization is also welcomed. Papers that deal with the relation between the financial structure of firms and the industrial structure of the product market are especially encouraged.

The Journal is particularly interested in papers relevant to the whole economic and business issues, comprised of three salient disciplines: (1) economics, (2) business administration, and (3) accounting. These fields are furthermore divided into the following specific areas:

Economics: Public Economics, International Economics, Development Economics, Monetary Economics, Financial Economics, Game Theory.

Business Administration: Finance, Marketing, Human Resource Management, Strategic Management, Operations, Entrepreneurship, and Ethics.

--- Dashboard Journal ---

Focus and ScopeOnline SubmissionsAuthor GuidelinesSection Policies

Accounting: Public Sector Accounting, Taxation, Financial Accounting, Management Accounting, Auditing, and Information Systems.

The aforementioned areas are just indicative, and the Board of Editors is in principle welcoming rigorous articles that encompass scientific economics and business fields.
